Ex-Chancellor Here

Critics Term Educator 'Liberal'

By CAROL WOLFF

Considered one of the most controversial figures in American education today, Robert Maynard Hutchins, head of the Fund for the Republic and former chancellor of the University of Chicago, will speak today at the dedication of the new Phase II buildings.

Hutchins, whose educational theories have shocked many and reawakened others, will lecture on "The Challenge of Education" at 11 a.m. in the new Men's Gymnasium.

Born in 1899 in Brooklyn, NY, he began his college education at the age of 16 at Oberlin College, where his father, a Presbyterian minister, was professor of theology.

His education was temporarily interrupted by World War I, when he enlisted in 1917 in the ambulance service of the United States. He then served with his unit in Italy and was awarded the Italian Croce di Guerra.

After the war Hutchins continued his studies at Yale, where in 1921 he received his A.B. degree and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

He then received his LL.B. at Yale, taught there, and in 1927 was appointed acting dean of the law school. The following year, Hutchins, only 29, was made dean of the law school.

At 30, Hutchins accepted the post of president of the University of Chicago, later becoming chancellor. In the 22 years he served as president and chancellor, Hutchins introduced the ideas that were to brand him as a "fanatical liberal" by his severest critics. Yet his ideas have encouraged educators to re-examine teaching methods and make changes in some cases.

Believing that educators had "confused knowledge with miscellaneous data" and that students must come to college primarily "to think," Hutchins instituted a new plan of education in the university by which students would have to study in the four fields of biological, physical and social sciences and the humanities and would be able to obtain a degree upon passing the board of examiners' final achievement examination.

Hutchins introduced a "Great Books" course at the University of Chicago in the early '30's. In 1946 he began giving adult courses in the great brooks and became editor-in-chief of Great Books of the Western World.

In 1937 he was responsible for the re-organization of the Chicago Law School in founding a "fund, rather than a vocational, curriculum to include courses in psychology, philosophy and economics." Some of the faculty resigned in protest against Hutchins' ideas. He provoked further opposition by abolishing intercollegiate football at the university in 1939.

Outside the area of education, Hutchins has been interested in establishing ways to bring about universal peace.

In 1951, upon leaving the university, he became associate director of the Ford Foundation, whose purpose is to "further the cause of peace, advance education, strengthen democratic institutions, promote economic stability, and increase knowledge about individual behavior and human relations."

Later, in 1954, he was appointed president of the Fund for the Republic, an independent organization that aims to support "activities directed toward the eliminations of restrictions on freedom of thought, inquiry, and expression in the United States."

His main doctrines have been expanded in his books, "Conflict in Education in a Democratic Society" and the "University of Utopia." He has written numerous articles for both popular and learned periodicals.

Three Phase II Buildings To Be Dedicated at 11 a.m.

With the completion of more than a year of construction, three buildings of Phase II will be dedicated today in the new Men's Gymnasium. President William J. McNelis will officially accept the $2.5 million new buildings from the Los Angeles Board of Education, represented by Arthur Gardner, president of the board.

Featured speaker for the dedication, beginning at 11 a.m., will be Robert Maynard Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago and currently head of the Fund for the Republic.

Hutchins, considered one of the most controversial figures in American education for his academic views, will discuss "The Challenge of Education."

Dedication ticket holders will have seating priority, but non-ticket holders will be admitted while seats are available.

Facilities being dedicated include the theater arts building, cafeteria and men's gymnasium. The cafeteria went into service Monday, while the other two buildings will not be used for regular classes until the Summer Session.

Another facility, originally included in the Phase II program, is the music building presently under construction on the northwest end of the campus.

Completion of this building is expected by December. Construction was begun late on this structure due to delay of available funds.

Ceremonies will be attended by faculty, students and guests of the college. Guests will include school board members Gardner, Dr. Hugh Willett and Mrs. Mary Tingloff as well as Walter T. Coultas, assistant superintendent of higher education and former Valley College president; Dr. Ralph Prator, president of San Fernando Valley State College; and Dr. Delmar Oviatt, dean of San Fernando Valley State College.

In attendance also will be Harold Reed, contractor; Dr. John McGinnis, director of educational housing; and E. R. C. Billerbeck, director of architecture and construction, Los Angeles Board of Education.

Presidents of five Los Angeles colleges will be present. They include Benjamin K. Swartz, East Los Angeles College; Dr. John Lombardi, Los Angeles City College; Wendell C. Black, Los Angeles Harbor College; John B. Shepard, Pierce College; and F. Parker Wilber, Trade-Technical College.

Principals from local high schools, junior high schools and grade schools also will be present.

Following the dedication a luncheon honoring Hutchins will be held, while tours will be conducted through the new buildings.

Musical selections for the program will include the "Star Spangled Banner," "School's Hymn," "I'll Praise My Maker" and "Pastorale." The band will be under the direction of Earle Immel and the choir under Richard Knox.

Valley's Construction Program Heralded by Governor Brown

Editor:

I join with the students, faculty and community to herald the second phase of the Los Angeles Valley College building program.

The growth of education in the last few years, both in physical plan and academic stature, is a source of great pride to me as a Californian and as Governor.

Edmund G. Brown
Governor

Mayor Expresses Pride

Editor:

All of us have watched Los Angeles grow at tremendous speed before our eyes. But nothing gives me greater pleasure than seeing the growth of our cultural and education facilities, which help provide the knowledge and the cultural and moral strength of our country.

I share with each official and student of Los Angeles Valley College your pride in the new building program which is being dedicated, and, with you, look forward to the stimulus and contribtuion which it will provide to our community.

Norris Poulson, Mayor

Corman Lauds Growth

Editor:

It is indeed gratifying to realize that the growth of higher education, indicated by the ambitious expansion program you launch now at Los Angeles Valley College, is keeping pace with the phenomenal population and industrial growth of the Valley.

For, without such educational progress, the advances we make in our economic areas are bound to be only temporary. Without a vigorous, enlightened youth to carry on this growth, we will surely slip into complacency and, ultimately, into decline.

James C. Corman, Congressman

Senator Sends Regards

Editor:

Congratulations on the occasion of the dedication of the second phase of your building program.

The steady growth and development of Los Angeles Valley College has been a source of great pleasure and satisfatcion to those of us who have taken a particular interest in its welfare.

On the basis of the successful completion of the first phase of your building program, and the scholastic development that has accompanied it, I predict the brighest future for Los Angeles Valley College, and I am happy to have this opportunity of expressing my very best wishes in the "Dedication Issue" of the Valley Star.

Speech Students Attend Spring Meet

Five students will attend the Spring Alternate Tournament at Pasadena College on Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8. Judy Larsen, Ellen Hayes and Michael Moore will speak in the Persuasive and Oral Interpretation speech section and Joseph Love and Al Broner in the Persuasive and Impromptu speech section.

Red Cross Fund Totals Show Increase

Final tallies for the 1961 Red Cross fund raising drive show a net total of $472.63, a gain of $14.89 over last year's campaign, said Frank Pagliaro, drive chairman. According to Pagliaro, the drive is considered successful as the amount collected compares favorably with that of previous years. Although the amount may seem small, he said that the contribution from Valley, in the past, has always been slightly higher than that contributed at other schools.

Date Set for Nursing Applications

Deadline date for filing applications for the 1961 fall class of the Registered Nurse Program is May 1. Students planning to apply should obtain application forms from Mrs. Mary Bruick in the Office of Admissions. Appointments for nursing aptitude tests also may be made.

Art Exhibit on Display in Library

A display of contemporary paintings and sculpture is now on exhibit in the school library. The artist is Walt Peregoy of Encino, a contemporary painter and color stylist for the Walt Disney Studios in Burbank. This is Peregoy's first college exhibition and is scheduled to remain in the college library for about three weeks.

Star Adviser Accepts Post

Journalism instructor and adviser to the Valley Star, Kenneth S. Devol, has accepted the position of assistant professor of journalism at San Fernando Valley State College, effective in September.

Devol joined Valley's journalism department in 1955. He received both his B.A. and master's degree from SC.

He is a member of the Greater Los Angeles Press Club and has been active as national executive secretary of Beta Phi Gamma, honorary journalism fraternity for two-year colleges. He also is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism, Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and is a member of the National Council of College Publications Advisers.

Since Devol became adviser to the Valley Star, the newspaper has received 12 consecutive all-American ratings.

Let Overpass Bid to Byert

The contract for the overpass spanning Ethel avenue has been awarded to the Byert & Sons Construction Company, it was announced by the housing department of the Board of Education.

Official presentation of the contract will be made today at a meeting of the board. The price submitted for the 80-foot and 12-foot wide underpass is $56,276.

Construction on the overpass, which will be lighted and have spiral ramps without any steps, will begin within the next two weeks, reported Robert Cole, dean of special services.

He further said that the contractor will have 75 calendar working days, with the finishing date being set at June 30.

3 Board Members Appear Reelected

Early election returns show all three incumbent members of the Los Angeles Board of Education were winning re-election, each polling more votes than all opponents combined.

The three incumbents, Mrs. Mary Tingloff, Ralph Richardson and Dr. Hugh Willett, were leading opponents in Tuesday's election by more than a 3-1 margin with complete returns not available.

If early trends continue, there will be no need for a runoff election for the Board posts.

Council Duo In Position Exchanges

Following John Stevens' resignation as Associate Men Students' president, switching of council positions highlighted the last Executive Council meeting before vacation.

Jerry Levitz, who resigned his post as commissioner of elections, was immediately nominated to fill Stevens' position of AMS president. Levitz was appointed on a white ballot.

Tom Yale, past vice president of the freshman class, then resigned his post and was nominated for the position of commissioner of elections. He was appointed to the post.

Both Levitz and Yale are members of the Independent Party.

Other main business discussed during the meeting included an appropriation to Valley's fencing team for a two-year college invitational tournament in San Francisco.

Following a debate, Council members deadlocked in a vote to appropriate sufficient funds to send the team to the tournament.

Gary Gerhardt, A.S. president, cast the deciding vote against the motion to break the deadlock.

Library Hours For Weekend Near Approval

Proposals for keeping the Valley College library open on Saturdays is at the final stage of approval, says Mrs. June Biermann, head librarian.

President William J. McNelis is in favor of the Saturday hours and approval of the Board of Education has been received. Assistant Superintendent of Higher Education Walter T. Coultas, former president of Valley College, is also in favor of the proposal and has given his approval. The only remaining factor is budget approval.

A budget of $2500 is necessary to keep the library open for an eight hour period over a year's time. The Board is willing to indulge in the expenditure if the students' use warrants it.

"Numerous requests for Saturday hours have been received," said Mrs. Biermann. "The students seem to want it, but until it is tried we can never tell how successful the plan will be."

"Of course, the main purpose of having the library open on Saturdays is not for studying. Any quiet room is sufficient for studying.

"Our main purpose is to give students research facilities to prepare assignments and to give more library time to students who are employed outside of school," added Mrs. Biermann.

"Only one other junior college in the Los Angeles area has Saturday hourse, and that is El Camino College in Gardena," commented Mrs. Biermann. It has not been too successful there, because there are several large libraries in the area aside from the college library.

The San Fernando Valley is unique in that respect since students wishing Saturday library facilities are required to go to UCLA, SC or the Los Angeles Public Library downtown.

Cafeteria Manager Calls Facility 'Dream Come True'

By BILL HOMER
Managing Editor

The new cafeteria is a "dream come true."

That's the word from Mrs. Virginia King, Valley's cafeteria manager. All that is needed now, she said, are the "creatures of habit," the students who are remaining in the quad area to eat instead of utilizing the new facility, which opened this week.

Eventually, she said, the majority of students will come to the new cafeteria to eat, but at present, with a large number of classrooms situated around the quad area, most of the students don't want to take the long walk up "Administration Hill" to the new facility.

A total of about 30 workers staff both the new cafeteria and the hash lines, which will remain in use, with day and night shifts included, she said.

The hash lines will serve sandwiches, hot dogs, drinks and cake among a variety of small purchase orders, she said. The old cafeteria bungalows are to be turned into classrooms. Some already have been.

Of the new, modern dining facility, Mrs. King said, "We will try to serve a variety of foods, including sandwiches made to order, sundaes, floats, french fries—Mrs. King says that students the age of the average Monarch are of the hamburger, french fries and soft drink set—and dinners, among other items, she said.

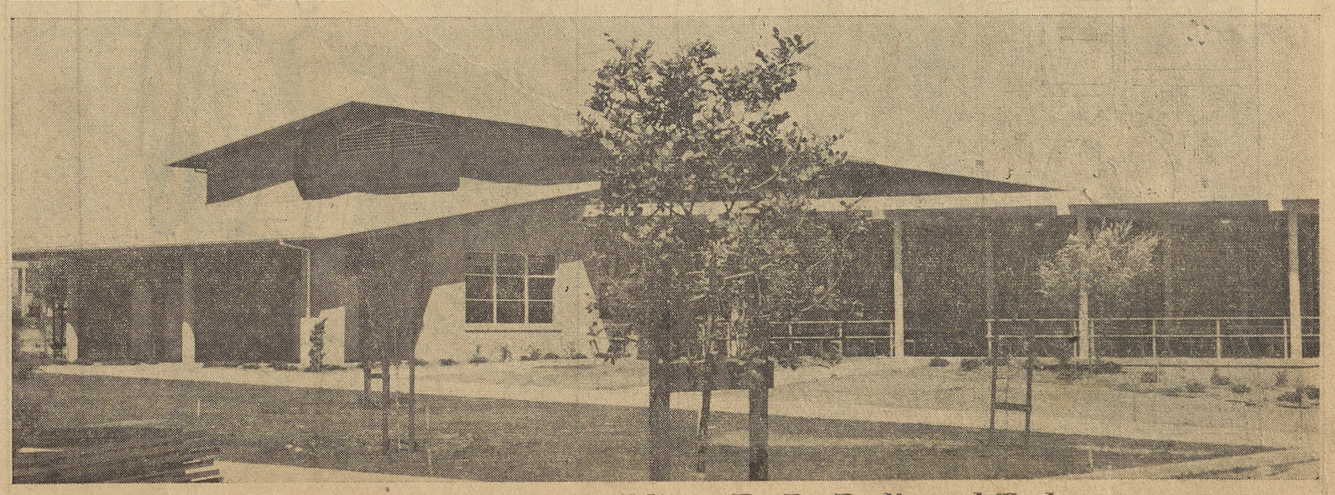
"We are trying to give the students a better product," she said. "We now have the facilities to do this."

Among the many advantages of the new cafeteria is a console which will enable patrons to hear music on AM and FM radio plus recorded music on a phonograph.

Band To Open Spring Concerts

The Valley College Concert Band will make its first appearance of the spring semester as part of the Spring Campus Concert Series. The band will perform Tuesday at 11 a.m. in B74.

The program for Tuesdays' concert will consist of "Fanfare and Scenario" by Cacavas, "Allerseelen" by Strauss, "Divertimento" for Band, Opus 42" by Persichetti, "Amparito Roca" by Texidor, "Dramatic Episode" by Whitney, "Symphony No. Five" by Shostakovich and "Pastorale for Band" by Williams.



New Cafteria Among Buildings To Be Dedicated Today

EDITORALS

Education Equals Progress

Progress and education are two terms that have become nearly synonymous. Although the exact meaning of each word varies, they are used interchangeably in the world of today.

Through increased and higher forms of education, this country has moved from 13 colonies to undoubtedly the most powerful nation on the globe within three hundred years.

Through progressive "thinkers," technical knowledge and techniques have been founded that make possible today's modern skyscrapers, bridges and campuses.

Today we are dedicating the Phase II of Valley College's campus. The combined progress of those who have studied, invented and built in times past went into the construction of these new buildings.

Now that progress has done its part, it is time again for education to match its synonymous "brother." Progress has drawn, constructed and furnished these new buildings, now it is time for education to start work.

First, however, in order for education to add its wealth to progress, knowledge must be relayed through individuals who have studied the facts, know the facts and are not afraid to express the facts.

In this age of "isms," including communism, conservatism, progressivism and Americanism, sometimes the truth evades those who seek it.

Phase II as well as all other planned construction is worthless unless the ultimate goal of these structures can be reached.

This goal is not just a passive form of education taught in a pleasant surrounding, but it is the teaching of the truth, whether it be for or against an individual, organization or nation. The buildings are secondary items.

A college could have the most modern, beautiful buildings in the nation, but they are worthless unless a goal is reached.

Let us think while we are dedicating these buildings: it is not so much the physical structure that is important but the educational goals taught within them.

If the educational aims are met, then progress through education has been achieved.

Want B70, Atomic Aircraft

Prevailing criticism concerning President Kennedy's ability to come up with an expedient money-for-muscle proposal is of the usual sort. Whenever appropriations are up for study in Congress, editorialists, columnists and so-called budget analysts rise to support or oppose budget observers in Washington.

Some newspaper and periodical writers have focused their comments specifically on Kennedy's proposition to suspend or stretch out the nuclear-powered airplane and supersonic B70 programs.

More popular seems to be the President's desire to "keep the light green" in the Polaris submarine and Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile projects.

It's easy to note than Kennedy's defense budget, submitted to Congress March 28, favors spending in proven areas, insuring for those formidable weapons a practical future.

But some contend that the B70, a proposed 2000 miles-per-hour jet bomber, and the futuristic nuclear aircraft concept deserve more consideration, if not immediate funds.

Obviously, the day of huge planes flying at fantastic speeds is appreciably close. Perhaps more obvious yet is the malignancy of diabolical weapons and world tensions.

An article in the January edition of Readers Digest leaves the reader little doubt in what the B70 can do, both as an effective deterrent weapon and prototype of the eventual A-plane.

And a quick glimpse at a newspaper leaves the reader little doubt as to what Twentieth Century man can do; he with his A-subs and ICBM missiles.

It's only natural for man to want to cut the flying time from LA to New York to, say, an hour. But there seem to be those who would like to have rival persons fear that the world could be cut to pieces, shreds or just plain dust. —JOHN MILLRANY

12 Years of Growth Highlights Valley College's Progress, Development and Achievement Story

By NAOMI BENYOWITZ
Staff Writer

When Valley College first opened its doors to 443 students in 1949 on a 10-bungalow mudhole across from Van Nuys High School, little did people realize what would become of the school by 1961.

In the 12 years since its inception, Valley has had three college presidents, seen its student body swell to more than 10,000 day and extended day students, seen its faculty rise to over 150 instructors and seen the necessity to move its campus to the present site in 1951.

Valley has instituted its Athenaeum program—a series of lectures, concerts, film classics and museum films. Under the direction of Miss Lorraine Eckardt, the series has presented programs throughout the years, making Valley College the cultural center of the San Fernando Valley.

Students from all corners of the Valley are drawn to Valley College for pre-university or terminal study. Valley administrators have developed a program for transfer and terminal students to meet the needs of the universities as well as local industry.

Dr. Vierling Kersey led Valley through the first years of organization and settlement. The reins were handed over to Walter T. Coultas in 1955. Coultas left in 1959 and is presently assistant superintendent of higher education at the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Upon Coultas' resignation, William J. McNelis, formerly a Valley dean of intsruction, became president. Under McNelis' leadership, Valley's building programs have become a reality.

"We are growing rapidly, and fast approaching the largest junior college in the state," commented President McNelis at the completion of the first phase of building.

The college started out as an orphan across from the Van Nuys High School campus but soon moved to its present site. The need for developing a construction program suitable to Valley's rapidly growing student body was readily apparent. Attendance broke all expected records the first year.

In accord with California's Master Plan for Education, a building program for the seven Los Angeles junior colleges was devised under the supervision of G. H. Womble. Four building phases are included in the program, the first of which has been in use for five semesters.

Phase I includes the six buildings in the northwest section of the campus.

The Foreign Language Building houses five classrooms, including one for television reception, a large lecture room and offices for the instructors.

Three laboratories and an electronics lab are included in the Physics Building. Also in the structure is a foods laboratory, a clothing and design lab and an all-purpose dining-demonstration room.

The Chemistry Building contains two lecture rooms, five laboratories, an earth science lab and lecture room.

The Engineering Building consists of two classrooms and two lecture rooms for civil engineering courses. It also has four drafting rooms and a completely equipped machine shop.

A 25,000 volume library has been in use for over a year. This constitutes quite an increase over the 300 volume plant that was on hand when the college first opened.

Offices for the president and the deans as well as admissions and guidance offices and counseling rooms plus four clasrooms are included in the Administration Building.

Phase II, today's star for the remainder of the semester, includes the Theater Arts Building, cafeteria, receiving depot, Men's Gym and Music Building.

Money for Phase III buildings was appropriated in last November's election. This phase is scheduled to begin in the fall. When Phase III is completed Valley will have a new journalism and business quarters, a math, earth science and home economics building, life science building, art building and a planetarium.

Bonds will probably be on the ballots in 1962 for Phase IV.

Dedication Marks Completion of 3 Phase II Buildings; One in Progress

By FRED BENOIT
Staff Writer

Dedication of three new buildings today, with Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago as featured speaker, will commemorate the $2.5 million Phase II addition to Valley College.

New additions to the campus are the Theater Arts Building, the cafeteria and the Men's Gymnasium. Of the three, only the Theater Arts Building is not ready for occupancy. Difficulty in securing shipment of seats and equipment is responsible for holding up completion of the building, said Robert Cole, dean of special services.

The Men's Gymnasium, although completed, will not be occupied until July.

In operation for four days now, the new cafeteria is growing in popularity every day. Comments by students and faculty members are heard almost everywhere, reports A.S. President Gary Gerhardt.

Capable of accommodating more than 1000 diners at its indoor and outdoor tables, the cafeteria features a formal dining room, main serving room and four small individual dining rooms that will be available for group meetings.

The Theater Arts Building is expected to be occupied sometime in April.

The new theater, says Bob Davis, executive director of the Drama Department, is "one of the most complete and most modern plants in Southern California."

Featuring three individual theaters capable of seating 611 persons, the new building also houses dressing rooms, sound and technical rooms, scenery-building shops, classrooms and workshops.

On the eastern side of the campus is located the new Men's Gymnasium. This facility is capable of accommodating more than 2000 students. Adjoining the gym are 11 tennis courts, volleyball, shuffle board and turf courts.

Another facility originally included in the Phase II program is the Music Building, presently under construction on the northeastern end of the campus. Construction of the building was canceled because of the high bids received. Later, however, it was rescheduled when a surplus of money was derived from the total 1958 bond issue.

Although it is no longer considered part of the Phase II program, it will be completed well in advance of any buildings included in the Phase III expansion program. The Music Building is expected to be completed, Cole said, in December of this year.

Phase III buildings, most of which are still in the drawing board stage, include buildings for business and journalism, mathematics, home economics and earth science, art and a planetarium. The planetarium, if completed according to the present plans, will be the first of such for any two-year college in the Los Angeles system.

The three phase expansion program for Valley was made possible by bond elections in 1955, 1958 and 1960 and totals approximately $8.5 million.

Phase I buildings include library, administration, chemistry, engineering, physics and foreign language facilities. A boiler room was also constructed.

Fidel Hits 'Fore' International Recognition, Thinks He Can Drop Kennedy, Eisenhower

By DAN FAPP
Editor

Move over JFK and Ike, too; Fidel is on the prowl. The "big man" from Cuba has junked his threats of a cold war, removed his thoughts of a hot war, abolished his attempts of an economic war and joined the famed United States leaders in a divot "war."

Castro

Dark rumors have been floating though Havana recently that the Prime Minister has been trying his "luck" at the imperialistic game of golf.

Although he hit, swung, climbed, jerked, ranted and raved, Fidel hit a pleasant 150. Castro is not disturbed, nevertheless, for it is his second round at the new sport.

Still darker rumors are floating though Havana, though, that Castro—despite what he says—never will be a winner at the game.

Caddies who watched the bearded Cuban leader and two aides indulge in 18 holes of golf — previously scorned as "sport of the privileged classes"—likened Castro's swing to a cane cutter wielding a machete, reported the UPI.

"Fidel will never be a golfer," caddy Juanto Castro said. "He is too impatient. He kept running after the ball after he hit it as if this were a soccer game."

Castro declared himself most satisfied and said, "I can beat Kennedy easily."

A companion, economic czar Ernesto Guevara, said, "I'm sure I could beat even Eisenhower."

Why not? In the future when chiefs of state get into a feuding mood, put them on a golf course. What a foursome: President Kennedy, Prime Minister Castro, Former President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Khrushchev. The score card could be kept by former President Truman.

International tension would disappear. Just let the lowest scorer have his way: at the present the United States would not have to worry.

The caddies who toted bags for Castro's party said he shot something over 150 on the 6692-yard par 70 suburban Villareal Golf Course. Guevara won with 127.

With Kennedy hitting in the 70's and Eisenhower in the low 80's, the United States would have all the sugar, tobacco and petroleum plants back within 18 holes.

But, unfortunately, foreign affairs cannot be simplified that much. Still men will have to fight the red tape, foreign laws and diplomacy in order to have nations decide international policies.

Golf is golf, and when press secretary Pierre Salinger was informed about the "bearded fellow," his only comment was, "Just say I smiled."

Writer Says West Lacks Complete Unity

The lack of unity among nations in the western world was somewhat a minor observation made during a television debate between former ambassador to the United Nations Henry Cabot Lodge and Robert J. G. Boothby, member of the British House of Lords.

Kaplan

The debate, which centered around the question of admitting Red China into the UN now, brought out the fact that throughout the cold war western nations have suffered greatly because of disunity against the combined forces of Communism.

The question of admitting Red China alone proves that there is a disunity factor between the two most powerful countries in the West, and it seems that the Communists are benefitting from this weakness.

Red China and the Soviet Union are by no means united in their ways and means to harness the world under their "red yoke," but they do present a common front whenever around a conference table discussing major world policies with the western powers.

The two red powers present a common front, one thing the western alliance seldom does. Looking into past important world events, one may observe the different outlooks each of the western countries has on major world political crises.

Britain and the United States split during the Suez Canal incident. A difference of opinion was revealed by western countries at the time of the Hungarian Revolt of 1956, and certainly various views are still being expressed in the western world on the Algerian question.

A more recent example of disunity occurred following Fidel Castro's hostile action towards the United States which resulted in cutting off diplomatic and economic relations with the communist-supported dictator and his island empire.

Canada, under the leadership of Prime Minister John Diefenbecker, still continues its relations with the bearded dictator. Somewhat of a stab in the back so far as United States is concerned.

Although Prime Minister of Britain, Harold MacMillan is presently working in unison with President John F. Kennedy on the Laos situation, MacMillian's government continues trade with Red China and is for accepting its representatives in the UN.

It is the privileg of each country to act independently in its foreign affairs, that is the democratic policy of the western alliance.

But the western world must stand united or at least present a common front around conference tables to achieve their purpose in fighting Communism.

Unity starts in a country's community before it can attain in states and a nation.

Only when unity is attained in a country can it be transformed among other nations in an alliance. This unity is lacking in the western world, but not among the Communistic commmunity.

A 'Thoughtful Reader' Sends Gordon Japan Episode Info

By MIKE GORDON
College Press Bureau Columnist

MIAMI—I opened the parcel from London curiously.

A thoughtful reader had sent a copy of the Mejiro Tatler, an English language newspaper published by the Japan Women's University in Tokyo.

Y'know when we think of Japan these days, probably the first thing entering our minds is the rioting recently over a new Sino-U.S. secruity treaty. Among other consequences of the Mardi-Gras-like riot was an assassinated premier and scores more dead or injured.

An actual background of the episode, such as this issue of the Tatler carried, is thus extremely enlightening. My chief impressions, garnered from the four-page paper, are that Japanese students were genuinely opposed to the part on principle and these same students recognize the dangers of Communism.

Second semester student council president Sachiko Nakajima, in her inaugural address, said, "The experience we had in the Security Treaty strife which was important for us in the university . . . helped us in making the basis of our student council a firmer one."

Which, of course, is an indisputably substantial method for firming a student council. However, I shudder at the results should every student government have to perform some radical earth-shaking "project" to build student body confidence.

Continuing, Miss Nakajima digresses with a most unsual hypothesis: ". . . To establish a student council of real importance, we must protect peace (reference to student motives for nonalliance with U.S.) and democracy, and the freedom of learning which is derived from them." How many student government officers propounded their regimes on such basic principles!

Student Travel Still Available

In response to the growing demand for summer student travel with specific educational content, the U.S. National Student Association is offering travel grants for students participating in their "traveling seminar" to Japan, Latin America and Europe.

Sport Car Club Schedules Rally

Acceptance into the Southern California Council of Sport Car Clubs this week is the major topic of conversation for the Valley Sport Car Club.

The SCCSCC is an organization of 102 sport car clubs in the Southern California area that sets up uniform rules and regulations for club functions.

Being accepted into SCCSCC is a major step in being recognized as an active club in this area, stated Barry Greenberg, treasurer.

A safety check held on campus last week passed 88 out of 150 cars. Major trouble areas were worn tires and lighting defects, said Greenberg.

In continuing a program of 'promoting safe and efficient driving' the club is advocating that safety belts be installed on all cars. Of the 150 cars that were checked, the only vehicles having seat belts were those belonging to members of the Sports Car Club.

The club is planning three ralleys to be staged during the rest of the spring semester, said Greenberg. All ralleys are open to anyone wishing to compete with trophies and dash plaques being presented at the finish of each event.

The first ralley is scheduled for April 15.

Veterans To Select Fiesta Queen Choice

Dave Robinson, president of the Veterans' Club, announced the acquisition of the quad and the bowl for the presentation of their Fiesta Queen candidate. The club will make its own selection following the introduction of all the candidates for the club's selection this Saturday.

Natural Scientists Select Candidates

Gail Miller and Ron Small will run as Fiesta queen and king candidates from the Natural Science Club, it was released recently.

The Fiesta committee includes Phil Cohl, Barry Teller, and Small.

Africa Club Topic In Science Meeting

A speaker from Nigeria and a film about Africa will highlight the Behavioral Science Club's meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Physics 100.

Sylvester Obi, a Nigerian exchange student and gradaute of SC, will address the club members on "Africa Today." Obi spoke recently before the Quadwranglers.

The film, "Something of Value," stars Rock Hudson and Dana Wynter and deals with Mau-Mau uprisings in Kenya, Africa.

Tickets for the events may be purchased from any club member for 50 cents in B35 or at the door.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Jesuit Father Speaks On 'Birth Control'

Birth control will be the topic of Father McGoin, a Jesuit from Loyola University, at the next meeting of the Newman Club.

The talk will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the parish hall of St. Jane Francis Church, 13001 Victory Blvd., North Hollywood. All are invited to attend.

Coronets Lend Hand At Dedication Event

While most campus activities come to a standstill today during Phase II dedications, Coronets will be working. At the gym, cafeteria and during the tour of new buildings, Coronets will be on hand serving as guides, hostesses and ushers.

Barbara Schiffren, president, said club members have nominated Rosita Broadus, as candidate for Fiesta Queen May 17.

Vote Affected By Parties

Sixty-eight per cent of the total number of voters in the last Associated Student Body election were influenced enough by the new party system to vote straight party tickets, according to Jerry Levitz, former A.S. commissioner of elections.

Of this 68 per cent, 45 per cent or 215 of the total 512 casting their ballots, voted the straight Independent Party ticket, Levitz said.

He said that 23 per cent or 118 voted the straight Publica Party ticket, and 32 per cent or 179 voted a split ticket.

Levitz explainted that if a person voted for a presidential candidate of one party and predominantly for candidates of the other party for other A.S. offices, he considered this a split ticket.

If a person voted for a presidential candidate of one party and 75 per cent for candidates of the same party for other A.S. offices, Levitz said he considered this a straight party ticket.

10 Students Go To Convention

Ten delegates from Valley will attend the regional student government convention of two year colleges Saturday at East Los Angeles College.

Gerhardt

"The meeting was called to coordinate the vital interests of the two year college student governments in the Southland," said Gary Gerhardt, A.S. president.

A total of 30 Southland schools will send delegations to the one day meeting.

Valley delegates and their workshops include John Alderman, public relations; Barbara Cherry, leadership; Beau Gill, CJC relations; Bonnie Gottlieb, campus communications.

Art Hortze, parliamentary; Jerry Levitz, budget; Judy Moskal, college hour; Emanual Simons, scholarships; and Tom Wale, elections.

Registration Open For Archery 'Test'

The Southern California Junior College Archery Tournaments will be held May 5 and May 12, it was announced recently.

Beginning and advanced archers may register for the tournaments with George Ker in the Men's Gym.

A college may enter any number of students in each of four classifications including beginning men and women and advanced men and women classifications.

Those who wish to enter do not have to be enrolled in archery classes, said Ker.

Nix Proposal For Speakers

A suggestion to have personalities from off-campus speak in extended day classes was rejected recently by Donald W. Click, dean of extended day, according to Emanuel Simons, extended day representative to Excutive Council.

The proposition, written by Simons in the form of a dittoed letter was approved by the Inter-Organization Council and was to be distributed in the mail boxes of all night school teachers.

According to Simons, Click said the "students should in no way infringe upon the routine mapped out by the extended day teachers."

As some of the night classes meet only once each week, the instructors have a tight schedule to follow and an outside speaker would shorten the program by one session, said Simons.

The letter which made the suggestion was written by Simons with the approval of IOC. Distribution of the proposition was left to Dean Click.

Postpone Soph Gift For June Awarding

A sophomore gift, proposed by the Fall 1960 Sophomore Class, materialized only $7.14 and will not be given this semester, according to Gary Gerhardt, A.S. president.

Drill Squad Tryouts Held All Next Week

Tryouts for next fall's Monarchettes, drill squad, will be held next Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Dean's Plan Profits Club

Gary Gerhardt, A.S. president, said at Tuesday's IOC meeting that Mrs. Evelyn Field, dean of East LA College, suggested to him a way in which each campus club could retain a 100 per cent profit from its fund-raising events.

According to Gerhardt, the dean said if the club contributes 25 per cent of its profits from an even to a scholarship fund that the club itself establishes, then 100 per cent profits could be retained.

25 Per Cent

Present policy of the Los Angeles junior colleges is to have clubs give 25 per cent of their profits from fund-raising events held on campus to the college.

Kermit Dale, assistant dean of student activities, said that in order to accomplish Dean Field's plan, the 25 per cent from club profits would first have to go into the student body fund. Then, he said, the Executive Council could vote the 25 per cent back into the club scholarship fund.

Lynn Kurz, IOC fiesta co-chairman, said the club booths for Fiesta will probably be arranged in a large semicircle to enable all clubs to have equally good locations.

She continued, however, that the Fiesta Committee couldn't really make up a plan for the club booths until all clubs fill out and return the required forms. The deadline for returning these forms is next Tuesday, she said.

Screen Stars Here

Screen stars Susan Kohner and George Hamilton will crown the Fiesta king and queen at the Fiesta dance May 13, according to Beau Gill, IOC chairman.

He said bandleader Nino Tempo and dancer Sharon Baird will entertain at the Fiesta show, set for May 19.

Lions Favored in Monarch Field Spikefest With Tribe

By LAMAR PICKETT
Staff Writer

The El Camino Warriors meekly invade Monarch Field tomorrow afternoon with field events beginning at 2:30 p.m. and running events at 3 p.m.

Coach George Ker's spikers and field men seem to have a breather this weekend as the Warriors have been scalped for nine meets in the last 10 years, and this year looks no different. Valley's only loss in the El Camino series came in 1958 when the Warriors nipped the Monarchs 69-51.

Matthews Out

Ker predicts his men will take the mile run and the two-mile, as well as a majority of the other events, although hurdler Philip Marlowe and Richard Cox may still be sidelined with pulled muscles.

Ker's regular miler, Steve Matthews, will sit this one out as he will only be running in the two-mile event along with Larry Silver. He will attempt El Camino's Bill Ryan's 1958 record mark of 9:38.8. However, the Monarchs have Graig Stanman and Ronald Harris in the mile run.

In the 100-yard dash will be Rocky Hudak and Brad Bechtol. The pair, along witth Anthony Rivetti, will be favorites in the 220.

Fasano Best Bet

Jay Ward and William Beach should handle the 440 with ease, while Stanman and Roger Anderson look good in the 880 event.

Hurdler Claude Milton should furnish the spark needed in the broad jump, high and low hurdles for the Monarchs.

Best bets in the field are big Lou Fasano and William Hlywka in the weight events, with Karan Wright and Mike Singer leading the Monarchs in the high jump.

Hudak Wins

In the pole vault it looks like Dick Landweer will carry the load for Valley.

Ker has Hudak, Beach, Bechtol and anchor man Jay Ward in the mile relay to round out the foursome.

Over the Easter holidays, favored Valley dropped the Bakersfield meet 64¾-57¼. The Monarchs won eight of the 14 events and tied for first in two others, but With Richard Cox and Philip Marlowe out of action, the visiting Renegades swept the low hurdles and went one-two in the high hurdles and broad jump.

Hudak, Fasano and Matthews each took two first places in the meet—Hudak in the sprints, Fasano in the weight events and Matthews in the 880 and mile.

Hudak, running very well, added a pleasant surprise to the meet as he took the 100 in 10.1 and the 220 in 22-flat for two of his better performances of the year.

Matthews, a bit disappointed at not getting his 4:15 or better in the mile, turned in good times of 4:20.5 in the mile and 1:56.4 for his effort in the 880.

Relay Results

In the 23rd annual Easter Relays in Santa Barbara, the Lions' distance medley relay team finished second to Fullerton, which set a new national junior college record of 10:03.8. Fasano finished second in the JC shot put at 47-1 behind Dallas Long of SC who won the college shot put with a mark of 62-5.

The Lions, competing in the large school division, had to settle for second place in the Southern California Relays, losing to Los Angeles City College 51-50.

The Lions took two running events and one field event. The wins came in the sprint medley and distance medley, with Matthews anchor in both.

Sprint Champs

Ward, Mike Singer, Hudak and Mattthews were the foursome who won the sprint event with a 3:32.5 time. Matthews had a 1:56.5 clocking in his 880 leg.

Bechtol, Beach, Stanman and Matthews took the distance medley with a time of 10:28.7, bettering their Easter Relay time by 6.7 in that event.

The Monarchs finished third in the mile relay and fourth in the two-mile, 880 and 440.

In the weights, Fasano threw the dish 146-9½, while George Frenn was fourth with 132-0, and Hlywka captured fifth place with 131-7½ for his effort.

Fasano was third in the shot at 46-10 and Hlywka ended in fifth place with a toss of 44-10¾.

Border Nine In for Single Game; 'Egg' Tourney Nets Consolation

Trying to regain the conference baseball lead, Coach Charlie Mann's baseball squad travels to San Diego Junior College tomorrow. The game begins at 3 p.m.

The Monarchs are now trailing the undefeated Knights, but a Monarch win will knock San Diego out of the lead and move Valley up into a three-Beach.

way tie with El Camino and Long

Following Tuesday's 2-1 loss to Long Beach City College, the Monarchs retain a 2-1 record compared to San Diego's 1-0 standing.

While Valley was losing its first conference game, the Knights were battering Palomar College, 4-1, in a non-conference game.

The Monarchs host San Diego tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the first meeting of the year between the two teams. Last year Valley won both games played with the Border City club, 6-5 and 13-8.

In the second annual Easter Classic hosted by Valley, Mann's-men captured the consolation prize by downing the LA State JV's 25-4 and Reedley College 14-4.

Cerritos captured the tourney title with a 3-2 win over the SC Frosh in the finals, after defeating Valley 7-3 in the first round.

Left fielder Spencer Akins hiked his tournament average to a lusty .687 with 11 hits in 13 at bats as the Monarchs scored 39 runs on 38 hits in the two games.

Marty Jacobson batted .500 and knocked in eight runs to help pace Valley.

Tom Pedigrew got credit for the win over the Diablos, giving up four runs on 11 hits, while Jim Schultz hurled a six-hitter against Reedley. Valley failed to stop powerful Cerritos in the first round, however, losing, 7-3.

In conference action prior to the holiday, pitcher Schultz won his second straight conference game, downing El Camino 7-5 at Pike Field.

Spencer Akins' bases loaded double in the third inning and a two-run single by Marty Jacobson highlighted the scoring as Valley grabbed a 4-3 lead. Triples by Akins and Jack Vigil capped the scoring in the sixth.

'Gades, Lions Set for Splash

The next waterfest for the Monarchs will be tomorrow with Bakersfield for Valley's ninth match of the 1961 season.

The swimmers, who won their last match against San Diego and Glendale last week, now stand at seven wins and two losses for the season.

Hopes for taking a first or second place in the city finals were shattered when the aquamen suffered defeat at the hands of both Long Beach and Santa Monica.

Swim manager Eric Larsen still sees hope for the team to make a good showing in the conference meets which will be held at Santa Monica April 19-21.

Valley Netters Still Unbeaten In Metro Play

In action prior to the Easter vacation, Coach Mark Mathews' undefeated tennis team extended its conference record to 5-0 with wins over Long Beach and East Los Angeles. They also downed Ventura in a non-conference match.

The first-place netmen, whose overall season record stands at 12-0-1, met Bakersfield yesterday for the first time this season.

"Although every match from now on is important," said Mathews, "we are already preparing for San Diego April 10."

As in the Santa Monica match, arrangements have been made for the P.E. classes to attend. The Knights are slightly favored to win.

Mathews singled out Nickie Breit as the most consistent man on the team.

"Breit, competing in the No. 4 slot, has greatly improved in recent matches, and when paired with Benny Inez, gives us strength in doubles competition."

Chuck Rombeau, No. 1 man, was recently elected team captain, Mathews said.

Golfers 'Clubbed' By Vikings 54-0

In an unsuccessful attempt to break a string of six consecutive losses, Coach E. Y. Johnson's golf team suffered a 54-0 defeat at the hands of Long Beach last Monday.

Of the seven matches staged this season, Valley's only victory has been against Harbor College.

Tomorrow's game against Santa Monica at the Encino golf course winds up the first half of play.

Lions Swamped In Gym Meet

Coach Ray Follosco's gym team dropped its third conference meet, losing to Harbor 94½ to 46½.

Rope man Spencer Takaki won the only first place in the meet for Valley with a time of 3.6. He has taken first in his event in previous meets this season.
